Study committee formed

Restructuring tax on business urged

By NORMAN COLBY
I-G Staff Writer

ALBANY — A 10-member committee will prepare recommendations for restructuring the city business license tax, possibly lightening the load for businesses paying sales tax to the city.

The Albany City Council created the committee Monday upon urging by City Treasurer Ellen Zapata.

It is likely that the revised method will continue to levy the same total tax, leaving the city revenues from this source the same but levying more tax on some businesses, less on others.

Membership will include Mrs. Zapata, City Administrator James Turner, Councilmen Pat Griffin and Robert Luoma, also four members of the business community and two "consumer" members.

Purpose is to have the new tax system operative in time for the new year, Jan. 1.

There was long discussion about the size of the committee, some arguing for a smaller, five-member committee and others successfully urging the larger group.

The four business community members will represent large retail, small retail, large service and small service.

The council members also considered a proposal by Police Chief James Simmons for adoption of a city ordinance which would provide for warning and then ejection of non-students from school grounds and premises where students normally gather.

If adopted, the ordinance would fill the gap left when a state penal code section was struck down by the courts. Simmons told the I-G that his request was routine and not directed towards any new or unusual problem.

The council referred Simmons' recommendation to the Albany school board for recommendations.

In other business, the council:

—Decided to hold a closed, attorney-client session Sept. 27 concerning Cablevision's reluctance to pay the fee under its franchise contract amounting to 10 percent of its annual gross receipts. The firm is claiming the state has set a 5½ percent limit, and the city has responded that the state ruling does not apply to charter cities.

—Emphasized that "high priority" is still attached to the proposed signalization of the intersection of Brighton and San Pablo Avenue, although the project is low on the state funding list.

—Expressed sympathy for residents of Neilsen Street near the 1000 block, where the traffic problem has

Albany home refurbished, a demonstration for HCP

ALBANY — Finishing touches to repair work on 43-year-old 3400 Albany Avenue home over the weekend completed another phase of Albany's Housing Conservation Program (HCP).

Chosen as a demonstration of what repair work could do to older homes in the community, Mrs. Burke's house this weekend was outfitted with a new kitchen sink, light fixtures and porch handrailings. Some plumbing work also will be done.

The effort will capped the sweat contributed by some 40 community volunteers who repaired gutters, installed new aluminum windows, painted the house's interior and put a new coat of paint on the exterior trim in two previous weekends of work.

Funded through the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, HCP will funnel $316,000 to Albany over a three-year period to help the city preserve its single family character.

The program, aimed at low-moderate income households and at preventing neighborhood decline, will offer qualified residents low-interest loans to perform home maintenance repairs that they otherwise would not be able to afford.

The typical maximum loan will be about $4,000.

The first major step taken by the city to start the housing program began in May when leaflets were distributed throughout the community to inform residents about it.

A survey also was taken of the city and according to City Engineer Robert Guletz, the main "target areas" turned out to be along Stannage and Kains Avenues.

Mrs. Burke's house was one of two sites selected as possible demonstration projects to encourage interest in the program.

Mrs. Burke, who is 72 years old, noted, "I've always been independent and was a little skeptical when they asked me if I would be willing to participate. I like my privacy."

However, with work nearly completed, she said, "I'm quite pleased with what they've done."

Cost of the materials for repairs came just under $1,500 and will be paid by the city. Labor was donated by volunteers.

Mrs. Burke added that she needed to replace two windows anyway before winter comes.

—Set a public hearing to extend an interim ordinance to resolve a conflict between the general plan and the zoning ordinance for the night of Sept. 20.

—Referred to City Attorney Lawrence Saler a temporary restraining order in the case brought by residents of University Village against Albany, Berkeley, and the county for charging property taxes. Saler explained that the county counsel would handle the case and Albany is a party in name only.

Open space, low cost housing

Albany Hill land use suggestions offered

ALBANY — The city's new Citizens Advisory Committee to Study Albany Hill Land Use will be reviewing low cost housing and open space for the area as part of its responsibility. Jim Berry, who chairs the Albany Planning and Zoning Commission, has sent a letter to the city council outlining six suggestions for the completed report to the commission.

The letter was presented to the council during last week's hour long session. It includes a suggested target date of Jan. 11 for the completed report.

Mrs. Berry also wrote that the committee must review the city's general plan and suggested that "any property or combination of properties comprising one acre or more of undeveloped land should be considered for planned unit development with optimum provision for open space."

She added, "We suggest that the committee identify and study particularly sensitive areas with regard to environment and ecology and possibly come up with a proposal for areas which might be desirable for the city to acquire to be held as permanent open space."

Mrs. Berry also reminded the committee of the city's mandate to consider low and moderate cost housing.

Council members (with Pat Griffin and Joyce Jackson absent) referred the letter to the committee which now has three members.

Lewis Howell last week appointed Paul Nomura to the group to join Neil Havlik and Howard McNenny. Between seven and 10 members will sit on the committee when all five council members, the planning commission and the parks and recreation commission have made their appointments.

The council also unanimously approved adding funds for two crossing guards to the budget. Two positions were frozen in an earlier meeting until the need for guards could be re-evaluated after the opening of Albany Middle School.

As it now stands 12 guards will continue to help Albany school children across the most dangerous intersections.

School board member Ruth Ganong suggested that one guard be added at San Pablo Avenue and Washington Avenue, and the council passed this on to the police chief.

In other actions the council:

—Adopted a conflict of interest code which requires council members to disclose investments, interests in real property and income and to disqualify them-

UC tax case rescheduled

OAKLAND — A hearing into whether the county should collect a possessory interest tax from University of California students living in dormitories and married housing has been delayed until 2 p.m. Friday in Alameda County Superior Court.

The hearing, originally scheduled for 2 p.m. yesterday, was delayed at the request of attorneys for Alameda County.

The county was named along with the cities of Berkeley and Albany in a suit filed Sept. 7 by five UC students who argue that a tax being charged to 1,000 married students is unlawful. Alameda County Assessor Donald Hutchison announced on March 1 that he was assessing the UC-owned housing for the first time under an 1866 law which allows taxation of anyone benefiting from a tax-exempt public property.

The students, through San Francisco attorney Mark Himelstein, are arguing that their benefit from the housing is strictly educational and therefore not taxable. They are seeking a preliminary injunction against collection of the tax until the suit could be heard in court.

Railroad tracks to come out

Special to The I-G
LOS ANGELES — The Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads have formally agreed to share tracks running through Richmond and Berkeley into Oakland.

Directors of the Southern Pacific company met here recently to authorize the arrangement, and the contract has been formally signed. Santa Fe gave its formal approval earlier this summer.

Lee Butler, Santa Fe attorney, said the two companies will apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) within the month, and possibly within a year they will receive an OK from the commission for the joint track usage.

With the ICC approval Santa Fe will be able to tear up the tracks which run through the edge of Richmond and the middle of El Cerrito, Albany, Berkeley and Emeryville and on into Oakland. No decision has been made yet on what the railroad will do with the land itself.

According to the contract Santa Fe will be able to use the Southern Pacific tracks along a 9.2 mile system from milepost 0.5 in Richmond to 9.7 in Oakland.

The system also includes three spur lines now receiving service, but the entire line has very light traffic, Butler said.

"It is basically a bridge line," he said. "The local traffic is only 50 cars a year."

Traffic has declined from a high of 524 in 1964, he said. The two companies have been negotiating for more than five years to work out the joint trackage agreement which will route Santa Fe trains along the SP tracks paralleling Hoffman Boulevard and Interstate 80.

The Santa Fe tracks now take up 25.07 acres in Richmond and a total of 56.12 acres along the whole route.

Place to meet all kinds of people

By MARCY KATES
I-G Staff Writer

ALBANY — "One of the most enjoyable things about being here is that you get to rub shoulders with all kinds of people," observed Henry Kruse, who holds a doctorate in law and who teaches business methods at the Orientation Center for the Blind at 400 Adams St.

The center, which is run by the state, offers a unique program to the 30 or 40 students who live there for varying lengths of time — anywhere from two months to a year.

"Blindness is very democratic," Kruse said. "It strikes the stupid and the intelligent; the rich and the poor; the honest and the dishonest." The students at the center, half of whom are recently blinded, range in age from high school age to 60 and come from all walks of life.

"Unlike some other agencies for the blind, we teach our students that they should be able to enter the mainstream of society. We want to liberate them from being dependent on agencies for the blind," Kruse said.

The Center, he said, is a place where "you can sit down and talk to yourself about your blindness. Blind people often feel inferior because they are treated differently in the sighted world."

Blind center open house

ALBANY — The Orientation Center for the Blind at 400 Adams St., will celebrate its 25th anniversary with an open house 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, and a dinner at 7 p.m. that day at the Leamington Hotel in Oakland.

Alumni of the center will tour the classrooms, which include a fully-equipped metal and woodwork shop, sewing facility and kitchen, from 10 a.m. to noon. The center will be open to the public 2 to 4 p.m.

Students will serve as guides. For reservations to the dinner, which is open to the public, call 527-0227.

BLIND

They are pampered, petted, ignored and teased.

Kruse, who is blind, said it is important for the blind to be exposed to other blind people who have not let their disability disable them.

Students are given "mobility training" to help them get around, first just around the institution's grounds, and later, on long urban expeditions. Students are also encouraged to leave the grounds whenever they want to explore the Bay Area.

"I can remember myself being brought up as the only blind kid in town," he recalled. "But one day, when I came home from school there was a great big man—with muscles just like my Dad—and he told me funny stories, even some about blind people."

The center encourages its students to do things that they aren't good at or have fears about. "If a student comes here and already knows braille, he shouldn't spend his time in the library," said Kruse. "He should learn how to do shop work or something he doesn't do well."

The center offers many courses to help the students deal with their blindness.

A communications department offers instruction in reading braille, using braille typewriters and recording equipment. Kruse's business methods class which teaches students how to keep financial records, sign checks and manage their business affairs, is also in this department.

The center's administrator, Allen Jenkins, who also is blind, teaches a course on the rights of the blind and what types of financial aid they might be entitled to.

A home economics department offers cooking and sewing courses. "We show how to thread a needle by touch instead of by sight," Kruse said.

A grooming course is also offered for interested students. "We teach how to care for clothing and how women can put on makeup."

Peter Ortega teaches the shop courses which familiarize the students with the use of hand and power tools for metal and wood working. "We use no special tools except for a few measuring devices," said Ortega. "Otherwise we use hand saws, power saws, squares, planes, drills. I've worked with all the tools here with a blindfold on, so I could learn how to work with them by touch."

And the price of tuition for all this knowledge? "You couldn't buy this kind of experience at any price," said Kruse. "It is free to any California resident."

First meeting

ALBANY — The first meeting of the Committee to Study Land Use, particularly on Albany Hill, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21 at Council Chambers, 1000 San Pablo Ave.

Cleanup help needed

ALBANY — A local group from Save the Bay urgently needs volunteers 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday for some clean up work along the shoreline behind Golden Gate Fields.

Save the Bay member Dave Sanborn of Albany, local organizer for the clean up detail, noted the area is "one of just a few natural points left along the Alameda and Contra Costa shoreline accessible to the public."

Most other areas are the result of fill, Sanborn said. He added, "There's broken glass, lots of plastic containers, paper and other garbage. Children can't play there at all."

Residents, who intend to volunteer, are asked to bring bags and boxes to carry away the debris and rakes.

For more information about the cleaning detail, call Sanborn at 525-4669.

Project relied on volunteer help

ALBANY — The demonstration project at Opal Burke's Stannage Avenue home relied on the help of local volunteers.

Planned as a concrete illustration of Albany's Housing Conservation Program (HCP) aims, the demonstration cost just under $1,500 in materials.

The volunteers, contributing their labor, included Don Armstrong, Councilman Michael Gleason, Deputy City Clerk Jacqueline Milne, Mary Lou Jones, Glenda Waugh, Ron Long, Everett Taylor, Gregory Watty, Bob Kendall, Manuel Cisneros, Willie Gholar, Art Power, Susan Hudak, Dario Meniketti, Nestor Zapata and Bruce Webb.

Also volunteering were Clyde Shumway, Penny Dutton, Harry Styron, Pericles B. Georges, Ellen Georges, Rafael Bustamante, Marilyn Paskert, City Engineer Robert Guletz, John Benson, Ellen Benson, Howard McNenny, K. T. Harmon, Leonard Kunin, Rose Horan, Richard Edwards, Daniel Salisbury and George Goto.

Rounding out the group were Albany Senior Center Director Stephanie Fall Creek, Patrick Carr, Odessa Shavers, Robert Hoyle, Anna Lou Levinson, Robert Elliott, Dennis Mulhall, Zetta Lynne Pope, Edward Dunning and Robert Lewis.

In addition volunteer help from residents, several local businesses contributed with donations of food and beverages. These included McDonald's of Berkeley, Winchell's Donut House, Highland Donuts, Larson's Bakery, Langendorf Bakeries and Berkeley Co-op.

TM to present 10 awards

BERKELEY — Ten certificates will be awarded by the Berkeley Center for Transcendental Meditation program during the "Autumn Festival for the Age of Enlightenment" to be celebrated internationally Sept. 19, 20 and 21.

The awards will be given to local individuals who have "made notable contributions in various aspects of life, ranging from 'development of consciousness' to 'progress and prosperity'."

Residents who wish to submit nominations for the awards should contact the Transcendental Meditation program center at 2716 Derby St., or call 548-1144.

The awards will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 19 at the center.

Festivities will open with a parade around the University of California, Berkeley, campus, and include a madrigal concert.

BURKE

set in, but would have had to dig into her emergency reserves to do it. Being chosen as a demonstration site saved her the expense.

"If I had had a little more money in the bank, I might have just gone for the loan," she said.

Councilman Michael Gleason, who was among the volunteers working on the house, said, "I've seen some positive effects in this neighborhood already. I saw one resident repairing his roof just down the block."

"We're seeing a lot of this kind of rehabilitation going on privately already, and we'd like to use this money to enhance that kind of rehabilitation for people who can't ordinarily afford it," Gleason said.

He added that repair work to make a house safe and sturdy won't push property values up. Values go up when additions, such as a new room or garage, are built.

In addition to making low-interest loans available, the program also includes a public improvement effort in which at least 1,000 trees will be planted by city crews along public streets. Some 94 camphor trees, which have presented continuing sidewalk damage, will be removed.

Also certain city-owned land will be landscaped and street right-of-ways cleaned up.

The next major phase will be taking in applications from low-moderate income residents for low-interest loans, but Guletz said that part of the program has not yet begun.

Times Hometown news

by Al Baney

Riots in South Africa and airplane hijackings don't make news pleasant reading, but once in a while... Betty Egwes, Sita Klaver, Ventura Norris, Laura Bailey, Marguerite Gausman and Annette and Suzanne Lysmer are among 15 local residents who have convinced Carl Whitaker and Carol Fegle of 418 Evelyn Avenue that Albany really is a neighborly town.

Three weeks ago Carl and Carol put out a plea for volunteers to help in a therapy program for their one and a half-year-old daughter, Anna Rose, who's suffering from cerebral palsy. And the 15 responded.

However, Carl and Carol, both newcomers to this community from San Francisco, still need another 15 people to help in the therapy which involves helping Anna Rose move in crawling movements to reorganize her injured brain. Volunteers need contribute only one hour a week.

One more time, neighbors, the number to call is 525-3460.

Another apology... to Suzette Dunning. The Times left her out in last week's list of Albany swimmers who competed in the John F. Kennedy Invitational Swimming Meet Aug. 28. Suzette won two third place medals in the six years and under category in "A" freestyle and backstroke.

Congrats to Jerry Williams of Portland Avenue who has just placed another feather in the VFW cap. Jerry recently was appointed to the VFW's National Legislative Committee which will meet Saturday in Washington, D.C., to discuss resolutions passed at the organization's national convention.

The appointment is just another in a series of milestones for Jerry who served as California's VFW commander last year.

Noticed that Clay Berling will be giving Albany United Methodist Church members free lessons on how to operate the church's Gestetner mimeograph. Don't worry, Clay won't bite if those taking instructions made a mistake. He'll just shout "Gesundheit!"

We need you now Sherlock... Joan Coronado of 937 Fillmore Street is still looking for the culprit who made off with her pet bunny rabbit, Frenchie, last seen heading north into Contra Costa County in a dark, late-model Roadrunner.

Frenchie, who would put Bugs Bunny to shame, is trained to obey such commands as "Come," "Sit" and "No," and has been a sort of mascot for Joan's jewelry store, Rodinoro, at One Embarcadero Center in San Francisco. Joan notes Frenchie "guarded the carats."

If anyone sees Frenchie or has some clue as to where he might be found, give Joan a call at her store at 421-9390, or at home at 525-5642.

Albany's Galen Rowell, a rock climber and wilderness photographer-writer-climber, has just finished a mountaineering book for the Sierra Club entitled In the Throne Room of the Mountain Gods. It's about the Karakoram Range in Pakistan.

Galen, who sold an automotive business to devote full time to wilderness subjects, does breathtaking color photography, some of which have appeared in national publications.

Mounted examples of Galen's work are currently on exhibit at Marty Webb's insurance office at 1819 Solano Avenue in Berkeley. And if you've noticed Marty has looked a bit hollow-eyed these days, it's not from staring at those pictures. It's because his new baby daughter, Jennifer Marie, prefers nocturnal dining...

I guess Chuck and Trita E. Mooney can empathize with Marty. The couple welcomed a seven pound, one ounce baby boy, Ray Norman, Sept. 4 at Lodi Hospital.

On the service front... Army National Guard Major Earl L. Knight of Kensington recently completed a command and general staff officer course at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Their double ring nuptials at El Cerrito's St. Jerome's Catholic Church were solemnized by three priests, close friends of the couple.

They are Father David Pardy, formerly of Salesian High School, now of Remede; Father Frank Vranjos, formerly of Salesian, now of Berkeley School of Theology; and Father John Itzania of Salesian High School, Richmond.

The bride, daughter of William and Betty Buechel of El Cerrito, teaches at Bishop O'Dowd High School in Oakland. She was educated at Berkeley's Presentation High School, and at California State University, San Francisco.

His parents are Joyce and Eleanor Whitman of Albany.

Cheryl's gown of nylon tulle over taffeta was accented with lace edged chiffon ruffles and appliques of pink rosebuds with mother-of-pearl sequins and seed pearls. A headdress of seed pearls and pink rosebuds secured her bouffant illusion veil and she carried a pink and white teardrop cascade bouquet.

Pink and white eyelet lace gowns, pink garden hats and baskets of pink and white flowers were chosen for maid of honor Susie Buechel, sister of the bride and for bridesmaids Nancy Jones of El Cerrito, Mrs. John Goularte of Pinole, Mrs. Michael Healey of Pinole and junior bridesmaid Tiffani Nora of Twain Harte, cousin of the bride.

Best man was Robert Fisher of Albany. Ushers were Curt Pihl of San Bruno, Don Etchegory of El Cerrito and George Jaekle of Albany, and Michele Nora, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and Scott Eaton, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Stannage and Solano

New building to house six shops

ALBANY — Construction has begun on a new 3400 square foot building on the southeast corner of Solano and Stannage Avenues, it was announced today by Jerome Blank, Albany realtor, owner and developer of the new facility.

Located in the heart of the lower Solano Avenue shopping area, across from the Albany Post Office, the new building will contain six individual retail stores.

With a mission-red tiled facade, white stucco finish and a basket-weave brick patio in front of the stores, the design will emphasize Albany's early Spanish heritage, dating from the days when Albany was a part of the Peralta Rancho on a land grant from the King of Spain. The patio will also make possible a sidewalk cafe and other pedestrian oriented businesses.

Architectural approval was granted by the Albany Planning and Zoning Commission on plans drawn by architect George Swallow of Environmental Coordinators. Gerard Fisher, local builder is the general contractor, with several local sub-contractors assisting.

The building will be Blank's eighth major Solano Avenue development. Others have included the Safeway Store, 7-11 Center, Founders Title Co. office building, Thousand Oaks and Evelyn Garden apartment houses and the Solano-Tulare office building.

Blank Realty also will build an eight-unit apartment at San Carlos and Solano, and recently completed a 3750-square-foot industrial building on Cleveland Avenue which has been leased to D and M Body Shop.

Blank, also a residential realtor, is past president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce.

Police and fire

Bad line starts fire

A FAULTY gas line was the cause of a water heater fire at 1140 Key Route Blvd., firemen have reported. The blaze, reported at 11:15 p.m. last Wednesday, started in the garage and was extinguished by firemen before it could reach the attic. Damage was estimated at $200.

TWO ELDERLY women were robbed of their purses and cars in unrelated but similar incidents, police have reported. Phoebe Allen of 407 Cornell St., was accosted Friday afternoon by two black men, aged 17 or 18, after she backed her car out of the carport. The suspects fled with her purse and car, and Mrs. Allen was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital by the Albany Fire Department emergency crew for treatment of a possible broken hip. Car and purse were later recovered by police in South Richmond.

Sara Jane Lathrop of 1009 Kains Ave., was confronted by an assailant in front of her home and struck on the head with a revolver when she resisted. The suspect took her 1967 English Ford Cortina, license number VKT 124, and her purse. Neither has been recovered. Her attacker was described as a black male, 20 to 24 years of age, six feet tall, and 150 pounds. The incident took place at 10:10 p.m. Friday.

Premiums increase

KENSINGTON — Workman's compensation premiums jumped about 30 percent here for firefighters for 1976-77, officials announced.

The Kensington Community Council (KCC) said the cost rose from $23,800 for the 1975 fiscal year to $31,000 for 1976.

Total expenditures for the Kensington fire district will be $425,400 this year, compared to $382,700 last year.

The 11 firemen in the district will receive $82 a month across-the-board pay increases, representing a 6.2-percent wage hike for the employees. No increases were approved in 1975.

The fire chief's salary was set at $29,556, and the assistant chief's at $25,380.

Maintenance and operation costs, less the cost of workman's compensation, was set at $43,300, officials said.

There was no increase in capital expenditures, set at $6,000. The fire building repayment was reduced to $31,382 for this fiscal year.

For information call 8514.

Hebrew, Arabic

Tongues of the future

BERKELEY — More and more parents are going to be hearing a new sound in the years ahead: their teenagers speaking Hebrew or Arabic.

These key languages of the Near and Middle East will be increasingly available in Bay Area junior and senior high schools as a result of a new program at the University of California in Berkeley.

This fall, three U.C. graduate students will teach language and culture classes in Hebrew and Arabic for the first time at San Francisco's Lowell High School.

As more student-teachers are available, the University will place them at other schools in the area to establish similar programs.

The language teaching project stands alone in the state and is probably not offered at any other public university, according to George Theodore, supervisor of the new language program at Berkeley that leads to a Master of Arts in Teaching with a specialization in Near Eastern Studies.

It was created, he said, as a direct response to the "increasing number of people in the Bay Area who are either from Near Eastern backgrounds or who have a genuine interest in learning the languages."

Theodore believes the new major can help improve employment prospects for teachers and can also lead to a valuable understanding of the Jewish and Arab heritages.

To enter the two-year graduate program, students must already have a bachelor's degree. They will spend one year in teacher training and pre-service and another in the college classroom learning more about the Near East and its cultural background.

The School of Education and the Department of Near Eastern Studies at Berkeley are co-sponsors of the new program.

Additional information may be obtained from George Theodore, 1606 Tolman Hall, University of California, Berkeley 94720, or by phoning (415) 642-6568.

Swimming ends

BERKELEY — Swimming season at Lake Anza in Tilden Park will end Sept. 19, East Bay Regional Park District officials announced today.

the scout groups of West Contra Costa County and El Cerrito-Kensington each contributed to the preparation of the three-course meal. The cookout was part of this year's two-week summer day camp program.

'Moon' tree doing fine

BERKELEY — The famed East Bay moon tree — the coast redwood whose seed made the half-million-mile roundtrip to the moon aboard Apollo 14 — is flourishing at the Environmental Education Center at Tilden Regional Park.

Given to the East Bay Regional Park District in late July, the four-foot tall redwood is sprouting new green tips and obviously reacting favorably to the attentions of its interested public.

The seed was nurtured for five years after its trip to the moon at the U.S. Forest Service's Institute of Forest Genetics Nursery at Placerville and dedicated to the people of the East Bay.

Fearful that the precious tree might be damaged by vandals of the curious, Supervising Naturalist Ronald A. Russo moved the moon tree from its inground dedication spot in front of the Center to a moveable planter.

Several times a week, it is moved to the outdoors from its regular spot in the rotunda. It is marked by two plaques, one of redwood and the other of a "space-type" metal.

Taking over personal care of the much-traveled oddity has been Center Secretary Jeannette Rothman who confides that the secret of success in raising moon trees is daily chatter and frequent songfests, along with watering and squirting with mist from a houseplant sprayer.

"Moon River," in particular, sets its branches moving," Jeannette reports.

Like the center itself, the moon tree receives visitors daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., except Mondays. Every weekend, it shares the limelight with many nature walks, puppet shows and demonstrations produced by the naturalist staff.

For details on the tree's schedule — and programs going on — phone Jeannette at the center, 525-2233.

It's time you and your gas furnace started doing things for each other.

Winter's coming. As it always does. And now is the time to check your gas furnace, so you can keep the home fires burning more efficiently.

For the most part, the things you should do are simple.

Make sure that the main burner flame is burning blue, not yellow. Otherwise, it may be using more gas, and producing less heat.

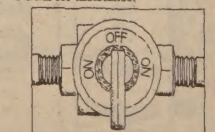

If you have a wall furnace, see that the area around the air openings and controls are free of lint and dust; if you see accumulations of what appear to be soot, you need the help of an expert.

If you have a central furnace, clean or replace the air filter now, and at least once more during the heating season. A clogged filter wastes energy and increases heating costs.

If the pilot is out, turn the thermostat to the lowest possible setting before relighting, make sure the main burner valve and the pilot valve are turned off and allow a few minutes for the gas to clear. Then check the manufacturer's lightup instructions which appear on most furnaces. Once the pilot is ignited, reset the thermostat to 85° or lower. If you're uneasy about it, call PG&E for assistance.

If your furnace needs parts or repairs, call a qualified furnace repair service. If you smell gas, call us. Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or other flame.

For more information, ask for our booklets, "At Your Service" and "Gas and Electric Safety in Your Home," at your local PG&E office. With just a little loving care, you and your furnace will be ready for a long, warm winter.

ATC suffers 2 losses

ALBANY — The Albany Tennis Club's teams began their season with a 2-1 record in the Northern California Tennis Association (NCTA) interclub league play Sunday with twin defeats at the hands of the Pittsburg strokes.

The local club's No. 3 team, whose captain Willie Redmond was out with a lost injury, was defeated 16-19 (World Team Tennis scoring), while its No. 2 team lost 26-22.

No. 3 team members Bob Elliott and Bill Jordan paired for a one-sided 6-1 men's doubles victory. However Jordan lost to Pittsburg's Fred McCauley in a tight men's singles battle 6-7 (4-5).

In women's doubles

Pittsburg's Lorraine McPherson and Dawn Deering downed Kim Heine and Robin Goldkind of Albany, 4-6. Deering defeated Goldkind in singles, 6-2.

Pittsburg clinched the team victory by winning the mixed doubles match against Elliott and Heine, 6-1.

Albany's No. 2 team followed the same script with Bob Boyer, Captain, and Reg Bowie taking the men's doubles match 6-1.

Pittsburg won the remaining four matches as Bowie lost in men's singles, 2-6. Carol Derenzo and Monica Rohrer lost in women's doubles, 4-6. Derenzo lost in women's singles, 4-6, and Rohrer and Boyer lost in mixed doubles, 6-7.

Albany's No. 1 team has withdrawn from NCTA interclub play in protest of the long trips that must be traveled for competition.

In ladder competition, action was confined to the men's singles. Alex Whang (7) defeated Tony Taplin (4), 6-4, 6-1, and Bob Elliott (8) defeated Jeff Baker (6) by default.

PANTHERS
tackle position is up for grabs.

In the secondary, Mellion and McLen are the returning players. The other spots are being hotly contested.

The Panthers ended last season with a 6-4 record after a 5-0 start. Isola sees the possibility of a better record this year.

With four offensive linemen returning, he should be in good shape," he says, "but we can't afford any injuries and there are still a lot of ifs — if this guy comes through, if this guy plays well.

"We have smaller numbers and a smaller team in size — but we could be better than last season."

Albany Bowl action

Women walk off with honors

ALBANY — It wasn't billed as Ladies Night, but the girls, nevertheless, walked off with most of the top honors as winter league schedules at Albany Bowl got into full swing last week.

Nancy Wenger and Patty Oates sparked brightest in the 14-team Majorettes League with 606 and 604, series, respectively, and Shirley Truitt came through with the best individual performance in the Berkeley Elks loop with 563.

Miss Wenger, who finished last season with 197 average, picked up where she left off last spring by posting games of 192-235-179.

Patty Oates, in her first year as a member of the Majorettes, followed an opening game of 215 with 196 and 193.

The only other Majorette to distinguish herself on kickoff night was Denise Altman, who closed out her 572 series with 208 game.

Shirley Truitt stepped into the lineup of the Berkeley Cycle team in the Berkeley Elks League and made her presence felt immediately.

She opened with 236 game and finished with 563 in leading the Cycles to a 3-0 decision over McNary Morgan. The next best Elk was Jim Brodie, 209-540.

The Albany Majors, up to 915 team maximum this year, also got off the blocks, but many members showed the effects of summer idleness and turned in performances that didn't quite measure up to their potential.

The most notable exception was George Schaber, who never missed a week on the lanes all summer.

George closed with 229 game for 617 series.

Other leaders in the Majors included Scooter Travis, who recovered from a 156 start by pitching games of 213 and 225 for 594; Paco Vasquez, 228-593; and Hal Friis, 585.

Carl Bingham closed out his stint in the Tri City Men's League with a 232 game that brought his series total up to 577. Closest to him was Tom Townsend at 559.

Jan Johns paced Plaza Mixed with 529 while 502 by Gary Larson was best in the Woodstackers circuit.

Bobcats drop first

CONCORD — Albany's Pop Warner football team, Bobcats, suffered a 22-0 drubbing against Concord in a weekend season opener, but coach Don Diani still saw some bright spots in the team's defensive play.

"We held them scoreless in the first half until the last seven seconds," Diani said. "However our offensive unit sputtered a bit, plus a lot of penalties hurt us."

He attributed most of the mistakes to the team's youth and inexperience.

The Bobcats will try for its first win this Saturday when it plays the Redskins at 1 p.m.

4 teams in softball title race

ALBANY — The Champs, also-rans during the first half of this summer's season, have thrown the second half of the Albany Park and Recreation Department's Men's Liniment Softball League into a cocked hat.

Larry Gaunt's home run highlighted a nine-run fourth inning explosion, and Harold Manuel's seventh-inning single provided the Champs with a 13-12 comeback victory over the first half winners, the Solano Club. Chooch Potentzani singled thrice and scored four runs in defeat.

Meanwhile, Tom's Terrifics continued their winning ways by dropping Offshore Plumbing, 10-3. Charlie Allen homered and Tim Allen rapped three hits to pace the win, while the victorious Terrifics await the result of an earlier protest to determine their standings in this round.

To complicate matters, the Over-the-Hill Gang remains 2-0, pending further second round action. Four of the league's eight teams have solid shots at the summer's title honors.
